SHERMAN'S RECORD UNEQUALED; DAWES

SAYS SENATOR HAS BEEN OF REMARKABLE LEGISLATIVE BENEFIT TO PEOPLE.

CITES ADVOCACY OF LAWS

Declares Services of the Republican Candidate Entitle Him to Citizens' Gratitude.

In a statement urging the re-election of Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman Charles G. Dawes bank president and former comptroller of the currency, declared yesterday the senator had "a record of legislative usefulness practically unequalled." Mr. Dawes is president of the Sherman Business Men's club.

"I favor the election of Lawrence Y. Sherman not only because I believe in the principles of the party he represents, but also because through a long and useful service in public office he has demonstrated his high capacity for official positions of responsibility," said Mr. Dawes.

Cites Legislative Work.

"His efforts in connection with the passage of the law concerning the assessment of property and creating the board of assessors and board of review, the state pawnbrokers' act, the abolition of township governments in Chicago, the constitutional amendment abolishing justice courts and creating the Municipal Court system and the state civil service act have given him a record of legislative usefulness in this state practically unequalled."

"As head of the consolidated public charities of the state he showed himself to be a man of high business ability. I believe his election to be in the best interests of the people of the state."

Henry W. Austin, republican nominee for state senator in the 23rd district, who was one of the speakers at a Sherman meeting at night in Oak Park, assailed Raymond Robins and the progressive party for the advocacy of the recall of judges and judicial decisions.

Hints at Side-Stepping.

"In this campaign the progressive party has taken particular pains to conceal from the public its attitude on the recall of judges and judicial decisions," he said.

"Why does Mr. Robins continue his vituperation against Senator Sherman instead of trying to convince the people of the merits, if there are any, on the subject of the recall? Simply because he is hiding under a subterfuge and is trying to suppress that which he knows is idiotic."

KILLED THOUSANDS OF RATS AT SCHOOL

STATE INSTITUTION FOR BOYS AT ST. CHARLES SCENE OF RIDDANCE.

Six thousand rats have been killed at the St. Charles Training School for Boys in the campaign that is still being waged against the rodent.

A. J. Seiver of Beloit is the modern Pied Piper of Hamelin, only he doesn't attract the rats by musical notes. He attracts them with ordinary bread spread with a paste, that the pests like, and eat. They die within twenty-four hours and the chemical action mummifies the animals. They always crawl into the nests and die.

Mr. Seiver recently ridged the Elgin state hospital of rats by the same method, and thousands of rodents were slain.

He is expected to visit the Geneva Girls' Home and other state institutions when he returns from Milwaukee where he has been summoned.

CHANCE SAYS FEDS WILL WIN IN FIGHT

FORMER "P. L." SAYS HE IS NOW
THROUGH WITH BASEBALL
FOR ALL TIME.

Los Angeles, Oct. 28.—Frank Chance late manager of the New York Yankees and the man who made the Chicago Cubs famous, arrived here today at the end of a cross continent automobile run and announced that he is through with baseball forever.

The picture of health, Chance came back to California to spend the rest of his life picking oranges and counting dividends on his big fruit ranch. He has made his pile in baseball and now is a regular capitalist.

"What team will you manage next year?" Chance was asked.

Says Never again.

"Never again," declared Hunk, with much feeling. "My active days in baseball are over. Hereafter I'll watch the game from the sidelines. Every dog must have his day; I've had mine."

"What do you think about the baseball war?"

"Why that's easy. The Federal League has made good and will continue to make good. There are no quitters among the owners in the Federal League. They had organized baseball on the run all summer. If they handle themselves well they will win. I was on the inside and I know what I'm talking about."

"The magnates in organized baseball are standpatters. You know what has happened to standpatters in politics recently. Well, the same applies to baseball."

"One source of worry to organized baseball nowadays is the players' fraternity. In trying to lick the fraternity and the Feds at the same time organized baseball lost quite a bank roll."

Chance was reluctant to talk about the Yankees, preferring to remain silent when their chances for 1915 were mentioned.

Baseball Without Players.

"My reason for quitting the Yanks is no secret," he remarked. "I wanted to buy new players and the club's backers could not see their way clear to pay the freight. Some people think you can run a ball team without players. I don't think you can. That's where we differed."

Chance intimated that he might have some interesting news soon for his friends in Chicago, but declined to say what it might be. He declared emphatically that he was through with baseball.

Goose Hollow Letter.

Miss Euphemia Pringle, our poetess of passion, has writ a poem on War which she has axed us to print. It hain't very long and its a turrible thing, war, we mean:

War

Above, shells bursting overhead;
Below, ten hundred million dead.
"Tis war! 'Tis war! 'Tis awful war!"
Ten hundred million cannons roar,
Ten hundred million throats go dry
From raising up the battle cry;
Ten hundred millions dryer yet
That crave a drink of water wet.

Ten hundred million hearts that beat
When sounds the bugle call: "RE-TREAT!"
Ten hundred million tongues that shout:

"The enemy is put to rout!"
Ten hundred million soldiers flee—
Ten hundred millions' victory!
The battle's awful din is done—
One side has lost, one side has won.
And those who died rise up and say:
"Away with war! Away! Away!"

Hank Tumma took a hand lamp out to the chicken house last night to see what was ailing the chickens. It was a skunk. Hank took an ax han-

He killed seven chickens but the skunk got away. This morning he seen that his box trap was sprung and thinkin the skunk had sprung it he opened it to set it up agin. New Hallowe'en Game.

"Who hasn't the dime," is another new Hallowe'en game which has come out this fall. The game is played similar to the old game of "Button, button." The leader holds a dime between the pressed palms of his hand. The others form a circle about him, then the leader puts his closed hand into the open hands of the players in turn and pretends to drop it in the open hands of the others. The leader may perhaps make the rounds twice, but finally some player receives the dime. Then the leader goes to the first player and says "dime, dime, who hasn't the dime?" and that person must name someone who he supposes hasn't it.

This continues around the circle until each one has answered the question, when the leader calls, "Dime, dime, who has the dime?" and that person answers. The one who guesses the person who really has the dime becomes a "spook" and goes out of the circle. The one who held the coin becomes the leader and the game goes on. If no one is captured, the game proceeds as before—the player who held the dime changing places with the leader. The spooks can only join the circle again if they can get someone in the circle to speak with them, and then that one must change places with the spook.

How To Make the Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-
Made Kind and You Save $2.
Fully Guaranteed

This home-made cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colds, is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold.
A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough quickly. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 54 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50.
Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

You will be pleasantly surprised how quickly it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and heals the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, be sure and ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex," and don't accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft.
Wayne, Ind.

RUSS VICTORIES IN POLAND WEAKEN FOE

Petrograd Claims Advances from Baltic to Carpathians.

London, Oct. 29.—The great Russian victory in Poland has caused a weakening of the German defensive in East Prussia and of the Austrian defensive in Galicia. Immediately after the invasion of Poland was broken up by Russian victories west of the Vistula, the Germans to the north and the Austrians to the south felt an increasing strain. The official reports by the Russian government and dispatches received from newspaper correspondents point to Russian advances from the Baltic to the Carpathians.

A correspondent of the Times, telegraphing from Warsaw, says that Radom, fifty-seven miles south of Warsaw, was captured by the Russians after a hard struggle, and that large bodies of Russian cavalry have occupied Lodz, seventy-five miles southwest of Warsaw.

It is reported that the Russians have not pressed the siege of Przemysl because they decided that the city was a hot bed of cholera and they feared the plague would spread among the troops. Extraordinary stories concerning the cholera come from the war front.

The Times correspondent in Bucharest hears that Russians have almost completely evacuated Bukovina, and that the returning Austrian troops have been greeted with cheers and music by the population. Austrian officials have resumed administration of affairs in all of the principal towns.
The Russians have withdrawn to Galicia.

LEECH HEADED FOR SPRINGFIELD

Attorney William L. Leech of Amboy is the republican candidate for representative at Springfield from Lee county. There are two republican candidates, Mr. Leech and F. A. Brewer of Tampico. They will both be elected, according to the opinions expressed by observers who are authority.

Attorney William L. Leech is a man of highest standing in Lee county and especially in his home in Amboy, where he is best known. As evidence of the esteem in which the residents of Amboy hold their fellow citizen, Mr. Leech, it is interesting to know that they have made him City Attorney, and President of the School Board. These two positions are ones of especial trust and they would not be given a man who had not been tested and found to be true and worthy. He has also for several years been secretary of the Lee County Fair, which is a position requiring no small amount of capability.

This district is entitled to three representatives and one senator. White side county and DeKalb county have had for some years the republican representatives. The last candidate that Lee county put up, Albert T. Tourtellot, was defeated. Are the people of Lee county going to allow such treatment as this to continue, or are they going to make it their business to see this year that William L. Leech, the Lee county candidate, is elected?

This district always used to have two republican representatives until 1912. Normal conditions will resume when the two republicans, Leech and Brewer, have been elected.

MCKENZIE HAS EASY VICTORY.

Congressman John C. McKenzie has an easy victory this year, in spite of the fact that his duties in Washington prevented him from spending much time campaigning in his district, it is admitted on all sides that his district is in splendid shape and that the "Old Thirteenth" will send him back to Washington with a much larger majority than he had in 1912. He has practically no opposition. The general republican tidal wave that is sweeping the country is one reason for it, but not the main one. The main reason that Congressman John C. McKenzie will be sent back to Washington with a more complimentary vote than ever is because the voters of this district realize more than ever what a splendid "little giant" of a representative they have found in John C. McKenzie. He is making a record down in the nation's capital that is making the people of the Thirteenth district proud of their good taste and judgement in sending him there.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S LOGIC.

Colonel Roosevelt says the essence of his partisanship "is that on certain questions hostile to the interests of the public the members of one machine come to the help of the members of another machine."

Here, in Illinois, Colonel Roosevelt, the Chicago third party machine has come to the aid of Roger Sullivan's political machine by nominating a candidate for senator whose only purpose in making the race is to draw votes from the republican party; it has nominated candidates in every congressional district, no one of whom it expects to elect; it has put up men for the legislature in districts throughout the state, the election of whom will make it possible for the Sullivan democrats to control that body.

If the action of this machine isn't the "essence of bi-partisanship," Col. Roosevelt, what is it?

DEMOCRATS ARE PEEVED.

They tell us that the democrats roared as some at their pow-wow at the Opera House last night. That was rather a measley way to treat us after we wrote them up last night and advertised their meeting. The trouble with those democrats, bless their souls, is that they know too well that their golden days are over and that the republican party has come back to its senses, reunited, and is rolling up its sleeves right now to lick the everlasting stuffing out of the aforesaid democrats. No wonder they call names and make faces. The small boy, in the face of a spanking, is sometimes nerved up to that point.

STRAW VOTE RETURNS.

They are trying to elect Little Robin Redbreast with a straw vote now, but we heard of a straw vote that looks better to us. A Chicago live-stock commission firm, situated at the Union Stockyards, has been taking a straw vote among its customers, who are cattle raisers throughout the farming districts of Illinois. To date the vote stands 110 for Sullivan, 110 for Robins and 220 for Sherman. Sherman has double the vote of either one and exactly as much as the other two put together.

Remember, Mr. Voter, it's a Republican and Democratic fight. Do not throw away your vote by voting on any other ticket. The line between the republican and democratic parties is clearly defined. They stand for opposite things. It is up to you to choose one or the other.

Fall Novels

By WALT MASON

Jack London writes, pen dipped in gore, of scraps aboard the "Elsinore." The superman is there on deck, with catcliffs climbing on his neck, and decks and bulwarks are awash with forty kinds of blood, h'gosh. A whooping tale of might men, the "Sea Wolf" warmed and dished again. Oh, Jack, your elbow's getting tired; one cannot always be inspired! "The Auction Block," by Rex E. Beach, is more than just a scream—a screech; Rex here forsakes the Arctic strand, scheme apart, and shows it has no brain or heart; he writes of soaks and libertines, and sports who live in their machines, and draws a truly frightful sketch of maid for sale to wealthy wretch. And ever as we read we think, "This book is surely on the blink, and when our reading it has ceased, we'll taste it for six months at least. Oh, Rex can write such corking tales of heroes lost in Arctic gales, of great things done by rugged men—why does he prostitute his pen, and write this twaddle, rank and raw? There surely ought to be a law." Alas, how far a man must look before he'll find a first class book.

Vest Pocket Essays
By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

A pirate is a sort of nautical train robber.

He is the worst thing that afflicts the high seas, not even excepting the English Board of Trade Safety Rules. When a pirate gets loose he cuts down the pleasures of the ocean travel about 150 per cent.

The pirate roams the seas in a fast, pugnacious vessel and captures merchant ships by shooting holes in the captain and other vital spots. When he has subdued a ship he robs it strong box and the passengers wit as much care and thoroughness as if he were an eminent financier going through the treasury of a great railroad. Then he blindfolds his captives, ties their hands behind them, and invites them to step off a plank into space. This system makes it extremely difficult for the grand jury to get evidence against a pirate, owing to the distressing lack of witnesses.

Pirates were once very numerous. They thronged the Spanish Main, captured Panama, bombarded Havana, and fought wars with great spunk. Morgan and LaFitte were famous pirates who waded ankle deep in blood, and Captain Kidd almost ruined the European trade before he was captured. Gradually, however, almost all the pirates succumbed to scientific treatment and reformed. The way to reform a pirate is to attach him to yardarm by a stout rope fastened about his neck, with the knot under the left ear. When the deck is removed from beneath a pirate who has been arranged in this fashion he becomes exceedingly thoughtful and earnest, and presently gives up his wicked ways.

Few people have seen a pirate, but all the magazine illustrators are very familiar with them. From their pictures we know that the pirate is a swarthy man with parentheticals, huge boots, and a mustache a la as a narrow gauge railroad. He wears large brass rings in his ears, a tassel in his teeth and a bandann handkerchief around his head, and lives on rum. He is as deadly as a New York hoodlum with a cheap revolver, but there are very few of him left and these are cheap Chinese imitations.

Still, thanks to the ocean regulations which permit a ship owner to save his dividends first and his passengers second, we do not need pirates any more. The pirate was really a slow and unscientific method of getting rid of humanity.

GOES TO ROAD CONFERENCE

MOTHER! IF CHILDS TONGUE IS COATED

LOOK MOTHER, IF TONGUE IS COATED GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-up plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

The Trey O' Hearts

As this happened, Judith Trine leaped to her feet and stood over the body of Alan, a revolver poised in either hand.

"Halt!" she ordered imperatively. "Hands up!"

The three who had alighted obeyed without a moment's hesitation; her father's creatures, they knew the daughter's temper far too well to dream of opposing her will.

In the six hands that were silhouetted against the headlights' radiance, three revolvers glimmered; but at her command all three dropped harmlessly to the earth.

Then, sharply, "Stand back two paces!" she required.

They humored her unanimously. Darting forward, she picked up and pocketed the three weapons, then with one of her own singled out the men she named.

"Now, Marrophat—and you, Hicks—pick Mr. Law up and carry him into the car. And treat him gently, mind! If one of you lifts a finger to harm him, that one shall answer to me."

Still none ventured to dispute her. The two men designated, without a sign of disinclination, stepped forward. One lifted Alan Law by the shoulders; the other took the legs. Between them they bore him with every care toward the motor car.

But now a second will manifested itself. The man in the rear seat lifted up a wildly sonorous voice:

"Stop!" he cried. "Stop this nonsense! Drop that man! Judith, I command you—"

"Be silent!" the girl cut in sharply. "I command here—if it's necessary to tell you."

There was a pause of astonishment. Then the old man broke out in exasperation that threatened to wax into fury: "Judith! What do you mean by this? Has it indeed come to this that my own daughter defies me to my face?"

"Apparently!" she shot back, with a short laugh. "Judge for yourself!"

"Have you forgotten your vow to me?"

"No. But I take it back and cancel it: that is my privilege, I believe. . . . Silence!" she stormed as she strove to gain her. "Silence—do you hear?—or it will be the worse for you!"

As well command the sea to still its voice; her father raged like a madman that he was, for the time being divested of his habitual mask of frigid heartlessness.

And seeing that there was no other way of quieting him, the girl turned to the third man.

"Now Jimmy!" she said crisply. "Into that car—and be quick about it—and gag him!"

"If you do," her father foamed, "I'll have your life!"

A flourish of her weapons gained instant obedience.

She stepped up on the running board and shot a quick, searching glance at the face of the chauffeur.

"Straight ahead, my man!" she said. "Make for the nearest pass through those hills yonder, and don't delay unless you are anxious for trouble. Off you go!"

The car began to move. She swept the three men in the desert a mocking bow, jumped into the body of the car and slammed the door.

They made no effort to plead their cause and secure passage even as far as the edge of the desert; doubtless they knew too well the futility of that, she thought, as she settled back in a seat, chuckling with the memory of those three masks of dismay unmitigated.

It was not until five minutes later, when she straightened up from making Alan comfortable that she realized what had made them so content to abide by her will.

Then she heard their voices lifted together in a long, shrill howl that was quickly answered by fainter yells from a distant quarter of the desert, then by pistols popping and flashing some two miles away, then by a growing rumble of galloping hoofs.

The night glasses in the car afforded her flashes of a body of several horsemen—some six or seven, she judged—making at top speed toward the spot where Marrophat, Hicks and Jimmy waited beside a beacon which they had built and lighted.

Half a dozen sentences exchanged with the chauffeur advised her that these were horsemen from the town of Mesa who had charged themselves with the duty of avenging the death of Hopi Jim Slade.

A sardonic chuckle from within Trine's gag goaded the girl into a sullen fury.

Exacting his utmost speed from the chauffeur, under penalty of her displeasure, she set herself to revive Alan.

With the aid of such stores of food and drink as the car carried, this was quickly enough accomplished.

Strangling with an overdose of brandy too little diluted with water, Alan sat up, grasped the conditions in a flash, and gained further information as he devoured sandwiches and emptied a canteen.

TELLS INTERESTING STORY OF FIRST RAILROAD TRAIN THAT MADE TRIP WEST FROM CHICAGO

John Howard Todd, in the Chicago Herald: Whether railroads would help or hurt Chicago was a question seriously asked and variously answered by its citizens when this kind of transportation was in its infancy in the west. There were many skeptics even after the first locomotive, "The Pioneer," pulled two cars over the newly laid tracks of the Galena and Chicago Union from Chicago to Sand Ridge, now Austin, on October 26, 1848.

On the other hand there was much cheering and throwing of hats, and there were many glowing prophecies about the future of the city when that same queer little old locomotive moved off with its burden. History has vindicated the view the optimists took.

There were two opinions of the prospective value of roads running westward from the city. One of these was that such roads would distribute trade along the route instead of concentrating it in Chicago as a great central depository. The other view was that roads running westward were the only ones in which Chicago could afford to have a substantial interest. Those who held that opinion believed roads from the east would benefit New York, Buffalo, Detroit and other cities at the commercial expense of Chicago. As a matter of fact no attempt was made in Chicago to procure funds for the roads east of Chicago up to 1848. In that year the Michigan Central, building westward, was within sixty miles of Chicago, but the citizens showed little interest in this railroad project.

The Galena and Chicago Union railroad was the first built out of Chicago. It was chartered originally on Jan. 16, 1836, and the incorporators were given their choice of using steam or horse power. The financial collapse of 1837 crippled the project for a dozen years, but by the last of September, 1848, two and a half miles of track had been laid. A week later the first locomotive was brought to the city on the big Buffalo and on October 26, the great run of seven miles was made with wondering passengers. Daily thereafter the little locomotive hauled the men and materials back and forth. Chicago's editorial corps took a ride on Nov. 20 nearly to the Des Plaines river. On the homeward trip the locomotive hauled the first load of wheat and hogs ever brought to Chicago by rail. Among the people "riding a rail" became a popular expression.

Many persons gladly paid fare for the sake of the novel thrill they experienced, just as the adventurous today invest for the same purpose in aeroplane rides. A report made on June 6, 1849, showed that 2,000 passengers had been carried on the road to the Des Plaines river and back. The next day 700 bushels of wheat was carried and by June 15, after the road had been completed across "the big slough," a distance of fourteen miles the daily traffic in grain had grown to 1,800 or 2,000 bushels, according to John Wentworth's veracious Chicago Democrat, which kept in close touch with railroad developments.

From March 1, 1849, to Jan. 1, 1850, a period of ten months, the total receipts from freight and passenger on the Galena railroad had amounted to $28,554.56. On the latter date the railroad management had in operation three passenger cars, sixty-two freight cars and three locomotives.

Just one month later many enthusiastic Chicago citizens rode out to Elgin to help celebrate the advent of the road into that city. They were amazed to find eighty farmers lined up with as many wagons waiting to ship their wheat to Chicago.

Vote for F. G. Dimick for Treasurer on the Republican ticket.

HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Don't look old! Try Grandmother's recipe to darken and beautify faded, lifeless hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold. Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

NATION'S TURKEY CROP TO BE SHORT

THREE-FOURTHS AS MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR, SAY POULTRY MEN.

POULTRY PRICES ADVANCE

Railroads, If They Have Their Way, Will Add to Burden by a Higher Rate.

We are going to have only three-fourths as much to be thankful for this Thanksgiving day as we did last year, according to the advice of the National Poultry, Butter and Egg association which is holding a convention at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago. Pessimistic remarks were made yesterday to the effect that the turkey crop is 25 per cent short of what it was last year.

To members of the great American commonwealth who didn't get any too large a taste of the national bird's remains last year this is a sad blow. Several ultimate consumers who gave vent to their feelings today branded the members of the association a regular bunch of kill-joys. They said they were not going to believe the "bear" stories till the slimmest of their pocketbooks after the bird was lodged in the ice box convinced them of the sad but irrefutable truth. One declared that he would eat corned beef and cabbage before he would mortgage his house to buy a turkey.

Local marketmen said today that so far as they knew turkeys were no scarcer than they were last year. "They are generally short enough," he said, "and have been for the last several years. We have not started buying our turkeys yet so we don't tell very much."

BACKACHE IS A WARNING

DIXON PEOPLE SHOULD NOT NEGLECT THEIR KIDNEYS.

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To relieve the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from the cause—the kidneys. If you have pain through the small of your back, urinary disorders, headaches, dizzy spells, or are nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 50 years. Here is convincing proof of merit. It comes from this locality. Mrs. J. H. Boehm, 906 Fourth Ave., Sterling, Ill., says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for years, and think they are the best kidney remedy to be had. Although I never had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills myself, I can confirm the public statement I gave some years ago in their favor. One of the family had trouble from his back and kidneys. The kidney action was irregular and his back hurt him. Finally, he used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Perry's Drug Store, and they gave him relief."

The above is not an isolated case. Mrs. Boehm is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully endorsed Doan's. If your back aches—If your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Boehm recommends. 50c all stores. PRINCESS THEATER.

This evening the seventeenth episode of the "Million Dollar Mystery," will be shown at the Princess theater. After the desperate race to get Florence incarcerated in a pest house in the sixteenth episode Braine and the conspirators determine on a new plan. In pursuance of this plan the countess who has received a note from Florence accepting an invitation from her visit to the florists, cleverly forges a note to Norton from Florence which tells him that she is going to a tea at certain No. 49, and for Norton to meet her there. Having seen Florence only the night before Norton is surprised to receive the note and so he decides to go. Meanwhile Florence has learned through her maid of the circumstances and she hurries to Norton's office in the city but he is gone. Meanwhile a suspicious-looking character is seen around the Hargreaves grounds and Jones follows the man until he enters a small house on the outskirts of town. Jones enters the house through a basement window and gets there just in time as Braine has Norton in his power and the quick work of Jones again saves Norton's life.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

Deep Emotional Play introduces Big U stars in "The Rock of Hope" a two reel Victor drama with Harry C. Myers, Brinsley Shaw and Rosemary Theby, a splendid trio of artists recently secured by the Universal company. The story is: Two young physicians, Dr. John Grey and Dr. Ralph Nevis, are rivals for the same girl's hand; she has an ailment of the throat and calls upon John to operate. Nevis learns of this and knowing of John's love for drink gets him intoxicated before the operation and does the work himself. John becomes very despondent and leaves for a fishing village where he reforms and does what he can in a professional way for the lowly fishermen. Nevis marries the girl and they take an outing at the fishing village, not knowing John is there. John meets Alice, the girl, and explanations follow. Nevis meets with an accident, falling from a cliff that proves fatal and John and Alice are at last brought together in perfect harmony.

Universal Weekly No. 135 comprises all the latest world's happenings of interest and shows the very best war pictures that can be produced.

"The Barnstormers" a Powers comedy, gives everybody the power to laugh; that's what we all need—a good healthy laugh now and then; we feel better afterward.

FAMILY THEATER.

George Hart and Mort Franklyn, the principal comedians with the Isle of Smiles, lay no great claim to being faithful in their portrayals to such an extent that their efforts will ever go down in stage history with the art of Mansfield or Irving, but as manufacturers of good, clean, wholesome laughter of the kind that starts at the feet and goes all the way to the head, they book no rivals. As Willie Hanz and Jules Nix, the assistants to the American treasurer hunter in the Isle of Smiles, they find ample opportunity to drive the demon of melancholy so far to the rear that never does he again make his presence known during the time that Hart and Franklyn hold the stage. The Isle of Smiles is one of the foremost of the Ned Alford, Inc., attractions booked under the policy of "good shows at sane prices," and will be seen at the Family Theater for the balance of the week. The company consists of twenty-six people with a chorus of twenty-girls.

On account of the length of the production but two pictures will be shown this evening: "The Arrival of Josie," and "Topsy-Turvy Sweeney."

EVAN L. REED
FIGHTER FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT.

END OF THE WORKINGMEN

an L. Reed, Progressive candidate for the legislature, is the type of man who should be elected for the making of laws. He has been in public life but not as an office seeker, all life, fighting for clean politics and government. He possesses moral courage of a high order and when he made up his mind that he is in right neither money, influence or fear disfavor can deter him. And he has always vindicated him in all that he has made. He has seen visions and faith in the people is "willing to kick the bricks" in the electorate work around to that of thinking.

an editor, student and manufacturer, he has familiarized himself with the needs of the people and knows what laws are required. His wingmen swear by him. As he can write as well as talk, the people of this district will know that they have a representative when he is sent to Springfield.—Sterling Standard.

Progressives wishing to vote for the Legislature put a cross in your party circle and a cross opposite his name on the Progressive ticket, thus:

O'BRIEN ADMITS USE OF ANOTHER'S NAME

New Comer with "Ruling Name" Defeated Tried Official.

Indianapolis, Oct. 29.—The name of "Frank X. O'Brien," which would have appeared on the ballots and on the voting machines in next Tuesday's election as the Democratic nominee for judge of the Marion county juvenile court, was ordered removed by Judge Orbison in the superior court on the ground that O'Brien masqueraded under an assumed name and obtained the nomination by fraud. At the same time Judge Orbison directed the board of election commissioners to substitute the name of Newton M. Taylor for that of O'Brien and by that action Mr. Taylor becomes the Democratic nominee for juvenile judge.

It was admitted in court by O'Brien's attorney that he had obtained the nomination under the alias of Frank X. O'Brien, whereas his real name is John C. O'Brien.

It was set out in the complaint that John C. O'Brien, who assumed the name of Frank X. O'Brien, had been convicted of larceny in the criminal court of St. Louis and had served a term in the work house at that place on that conviction. This allegation was admitted by O'Brien.

In connection with the duplicity admitted by O'Brien, it has become known that he took the name of a man who actually lives in St. Louis and at the same time took to himself the record of the real Frank X. O'Brien, a St. Louis lawyer. He came to Indianapolis three years ago, said he had served several terms in the Missouri legislature, was clerk of the criminal court at that place, had been a candidate for representative in congress and had practiced law for twenty-two years. This record is held by the real Frank X. O'Brien.

At the primary election the sponsors for O'Brien were young men named Denlon and Garvin.

Foot and Mouth Disease Discovered
Close to South Bend.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 29.—The foot and mouth disease, which is prevalent in northern Indiana and which has already caused the destruction of cattle worth $35,000, spread to a new locality when the hogs on the farm of John White, a mile and a half west of the large hog ranch owned and operated by J. D. Collins in Warren township, were found to be affected. The hoofs of several of the animals are badly decayed.

The sweep of the disease to the farms near South Bend is a calamity, according to John Border, county agent. The farms in this region have been considered safe from the scourge. When or how the disease found its way to the White farm is unknown.
